

CONSULTING GROUP

Mile Marker #424 - Knoxville

When running in a race, we know the items we need to be successful. We can't complete without the proper equipment. Usually our equipment is in multiple locations.

DEFINED BENEFIT: Actuarial Services

We have been providing Defined Benefit | Actuarial Services for over 40 years. We have a large staff of professionals dedicated exclusively to defined benefit administration and consulting, as well as a separate group of professionals dedicated to postretirement and postemployment compliance. We administer programs across the country, ranging in size from 30 to more than 30,000 employees and have the experience and capacity to provide you with outstanding service. Most importantly, we provide middle-market organizations with a breadth of service and expertise that, until now, only the largest firms could offer.

BENEFIT SERVICE CENTER WITH SELF-SERVICE INITIATIVE

In addition to handling the overall administration of your defined benefit plan under the full-service model above, we also offer value-added services through our self-service initiative option. The self-service initiative is an innovative approach to not only enhance the administrative services we provide, but also increase participant appreciation of your overall retirement benefits program.

Knoxville is a city on the Tennessee River in eastern Tennessee.

Downtown, the Market Square district has 19th-century buildings with shops and restaurants.

The Museum of East Tennessee History has interactive exhibits plus regional art, textiles and Civil War artifacts.

James White's Fort, built by the Revolutionary War captain, includes the reconstructed 1786 log cabin that was Knoxville's first permanent building.
